Dewey Dominates GOP 'Anti-Crime' Platform, Ticket

Union, Keynote, Registers
Forecast of 'Indignant Protest' at Polls Against Democratic Party

Changes Occur

Candidates for Officers Are Cut, Including Some Advanced by 'Old Guard'

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, assured of the nomination for governor, held the key today to the remainder of the Republican state ticket and the final draft of the party's "anti-crime" platform.

As the party's convention opened with a keynote prediction by Rep. Bruce Barton (R., N. Y.) of "indignant protest at the polls against the New York city Democratic party's partnership with gangsters," supporters of 36-year-old Manhattan prosecutor appeared to be winning a fight to "name the running mates we want."

Dewey forces, elated at the unanimous support for the man who brought Tammany leader James J. Hines to trial on policy racket charges, battled through a night of conferences in their effort to evolve a harmonious state ticket—one which they predicted will return the party to control of the state government for the first time since 1922.

Gradual Elimination

Gradual elimination of the stock of candidates for the various offices, some advanced by the conservative or so-called "Old Guard" element, appeared to leave the field in this shape as the opening gavel fell:

Lieutenant Governor, Thomas Broderick of Rochester, former Monroe county chairman, and Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Oswego.

Comptroller, Barle O. Hultquist, Jamestown furniture manufacturer, and Nathan L. Goldstein of New York city, former campaign manager for New York city's Republican-Fusion Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia.

Attorney General, Samuel Sapowitz, prominent Buffalo lawyer, and Philip Halpern, law instructor at the University of Buffalo.

United States Senators (six year term): Mayor Rolland B. Marvin, Syracuse, who has expressed interest.

United States Senator (two year term): Edward F. Corsi, deputy welfare commissioner of New York city.

Representatives at large: Richard B. Seandrett, Jr., Orange county, Mrs. Helen Z. M. Rodgers of Buffalo, chairman of the Suffrage Committee of the recent constitutional convention, and Miss Ruth Miner, Albany attorney.

Supporters of two candidates for lieutenant governor, State Senator Frederick H. Contecou, Rushkeggle, and State Assemblyman James J. Wadsworth, Livingston county, still declined to concede defeat.

The party's state executive committee met twice during a night of uncertainty, the final session concluding at 3:30 a. m. (EST) with a statement by State Chair-

National Safety Council Says
Traffic Deaths This Year to Decrease by 5,000

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP)—The National Safety Council today expressed certainty of a reduction of between 5,000 and 8,500 traffic deaths in the nation this year.

If the drop in traffic fatalities in the last four months of the year equals that of the first eight months, the council said, the year's total will approximate 21,000—8,500 fewer than in 1934.

Should the September to December death rate equal that of the same period last year, there would be a saving of more than 5,000 lives this year. A 33 per cent cut in deaths for the remainder of the year would be needed to reach the eight-month improvement goal.

Providing, R. L. and Louiseville, Ky., Grand in person, no-fault liability for August. This was the fourth month of 1935 in which Providence had no traffic deaths, while Louisville had one previous no-fatality month, June.

Chamberlain's Speech

London, Sept. 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain, opening his historic declaration to parliament today, said, "We are faced with a situation which has no parallel."

"I cannot help reflecting," asserted the governmental head, "that if Article 19 of the League Covenant providing for revision of treaties by agreement, had been put into operation instead of waiting until passions became so exasperated, the crisis might have been avoided."

"There were three alternative courses open. (He said of July when deadlock arose in negotiations between Czech government and the Sudeten Germans.)

"Either we could have threatened to go to war with Germany if they attacked Czechoslovakia, we could have stood aside and allowed matters to take their course; or finally we could attempt to find a settlement by way of mediation."

"We found it our duty to do anything in our power to help the contending parties to an agreement."

He explained that mediation was decided upon and Lord Runciman was sent to Czechoslovakia.

"No Fault of His"

"That Lord Runciman did not succeed was no fault of his," said Chamberlain.

While negotiations were proceeding under Runciman in Prague, Chamberlain said, "the developments in Germany had been causing considerable anxiety to the British government."

"Early in August," said the prime minister, "the government received notice of measures of military movements in Germany on an extensive scale."

"These abnormal measures, in

Bright Considered Possible Candidate

Henry H. Bright, assistant corporation counsel of New York city left Kingston today for the Republican State Convention at Saratoga, where he is considered a possible candidate for the office of attorney general.

Mr. Bright, who lives now at Woodstock, has been in this vicinity for about two years. He is in charge of the law department of the New York city water department in this area.

Mr. Bright was accompanied on his trip to Saratoga by John E. Egan, also an assistant corporation counsel of New York city, who is stationed in the Kingston office on John street.

Massachusetts Woman Suffers From Possible Skull Fracture; Falls From Trailer

Mrs. Rose Nettleton of 1340 Boston Road, Springfield, Mass., was taken to the Kingston Hospital late yesterday afternoon suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, following a fall from the trailer in which she was riding.

Her condition was reported as fair this morning.

Mrs. Nettleton, and her husband were on their way to the Grahamsville "World's Fair," where they had a concession, at the time of the accident which happened near the junction of the Lattimore Road and Route 209, about three miles north of Kerhonsen. Mrs. Nettleton had not been in good health for the past two or three years. Apparently she had risen from the bed in the trailer, where she had been resting, opened the door and was thrown to the concrete pavement of the roadway. Her husband, who was driving the car to which the trailer was attached, knew nothing of the occurrence until he reached Ellenville, when on being told that the door to the trailer was opened he made an investigation and found that his wife was missing.

Sometime after the accident Mrs. Nettleton was found lying face downward, unconscious, on the highway. A member of a passing telephone Co. crew climbed a pole and after tapping a wire, summoned an ambulance and Mrs. Nettleton was taken to the hospital.

C. E. Duryee Dies

Philadelphia, Sept. 28 (AP)—Charles E. Duryee 76, widely credited as the man who invented America's first gasoline buggy and known as the "father of the automobile," died today of a heart attack and complications.

Whether Duryee was the "first" builder of a gasoline automobile has been a subject of controversy. The credit was claimed on behalf of Elwood Haynes. His first car was placed on exhibition in the Smithsonian Institution, but later Duryee's first car was placed there. He built cars from 1893 until 1914. From then on he was a consulting engineer and patent expert, carrying on his work from his Philadelphia laboratory.

Trucks Massed in Tie-Up

To safeguard delivery of such essentials as food and hospital supplies despite a trucking strike in New York city, Mayor LaGuardia caused 300 department of sanitation trucks to be massed for emergency use at city hall. Some of the trucks are shown parked ready for possible duty, while the mayor continued conferences with employees and employers in an effort to settle the trouble.

Democrats Renew 'Draft' Activity For Lehman Today

Party's State Convention at Rochester Also Would Have Senator Wagner Reconsider His Declination

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Efforts to draft three-time Governor Herbert H. Lehman were renewed today by Democratic leaders assembling for the party's state convention amid the greatest uncertainty in years over a gubernatorial nominee.

They sought simultaneously on the eve of the convention to persuade United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, despite his recent declination, to accept the nomination for New York's first four-year governorship if Lehman persists in his preference for the "short-term" nomination to succeed the late United States Senator Royal S. Copeland. Copeland's term would have expired in 1940.

Should Lehman consent again to head the state, Rep. James M. Mead, Buffalo New Dealer, was viewed as the chief possibility to run for the Copeland seat, while his nomination for Wagner's Senate post was expected if the latter is named for governor.

Mead's Name Considered

In the event Wagner maintains his determination to accept nothing but a renomination for the Labor Federation Calls State Judicial Proposal 'Vicious'

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—A committee of the New York State Federation of Labor characterized as "a vicious proposal" today a proposed amendment to the State Constitution providing for judicial review of all decisions of administrative agencies.

The labor group asked a favorable vote at the November 8 election on six of the nine proposals adopted by the recent State Constitutional Convention and made no recommendation concerning the remaining two.

The provision for judicial review, both as to law and fact, of administrative agency decisions, the committee asserted, "will prevent the prompt payment of awards in the compensation, unemployment, old age pension and other welfare fields."

George Meany, president of the State Federation, headed the committee, appointed at the group's annual convention in Buffalo last month to study the proposed new State Constitution and make recommendations to Federation members. Others on the committee were John M. O'Hanlon, secretary-treasurer, and F. X. Sullivan, legal advisor.

Daladier's Address

Paris, Sept. 28 (AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier told his countrymen tonight he would continue at Munich tomorrow his efforts to save peace and safeguard the vital interest of France "with the backing of the whole nation."

In his broadcast, lasting only two minutes, the premier told of accepting the invitation of Adolf Hitler to meet him at Munich tomorrow, together with Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain and Premier Mussolini of Italy, in an effort to seek peace for Europe.

The text of the premier's address follows:

"You have been told that I would make this evening an announcement to the country on the international situation, but early this afternoon I received an invitation from the German government to meet in Munich tomorrow morning with Chancellor Hitler, M. Mussolini and M. Neville Chamberlain."

"I have accepted this invitation."

"You will understand that on the eve of such an important negotiation it is my duty to postpone the explanation which it was my intention to give you."

"But before my departure I wish to address to the people of France my thanks for its attitude, replete with courage and dignity."

"I particularly wish to thank those French citizens who have been recalled to the colors for the coolness and determination of which they have given fresh proof."

"My task is a heavy one. Since the beginning of the troubles through which we are now passing I have not for a moment ceased to work with all my strength to preserve peace and the

BPW Expends $6,200 To Repair Havoc of Hurricane Last Week

City Department Gives Out Figures Regarding Sum Spent, Men Employed, and Materials Used

Although there is still considerable work to be done in relaying uprooted sidewalks and curbing, and taking down dangerous trees as the result of last Wednesday's hurricane, Kingston is returning to normal conditions with the street lighting system again operating and house lights and telephone service restored.

At the Board of Public Works office in the city hall today it was stated that the cost of removing the fallen trees and opening the streets to traffic as a result of the storm amounted up to Tuesday evening to the sum of $6,200. This cost would be increased before all of the leaning trees had been removed, the tree stumps taken out and damages to sidewalks and streets repaired.

It had rained for four days preceding the hurricane in Kingston, and the Public Works Board had three gangs of men out in addition to the regular sewer crew watching for sewer and pavement failure due to the heavy fall of water.

Wednesday afternoon, September 21, the rainstorm increased in violence, and a dangerous condition existed at the intersection of Lincoln street and Clifton avenue which became flooded by the heavy downpour which the sewers were unable to carry off.

To prevent the flooding of cellars in the locality the board appealed to the fire department and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy assigned the big Mack pumper to the scene and 1,000 feet of hose were stretched to a large vacant lot on East Chester street into which the water from the danger spot was pumped.

By 6:30 o'clock on the evening of September 21, the public works board under the supervision of Superintendent Chris Heiselman had 40 trucks and 140 men at work on the streets clearing away the fallen trees.

These men worked steadily until 2:30 o'clock Thursday morning and in that period of nine hours had removed 120 fallen trees that were blocking the streets. The trees were cut up into sizes that could be easily handled and stacked along the curbs where later they were removed by crews that worked all night. Up to this morning 951 truckloads of branches and brush had been carted to the city dump from the streets.

The supply of materials such as axes, lanterns, etc., on hand in the board garage were soon exhausted and it was necessary to purchase 255 feet of heavy chain; 40 flares; 115 saws; 110 axes; 4,500 feet of rope; 275 red lanterns; 60 steel wedges; and 30 steel files.

Three carpenters employed by the board were kept busy 14 hours a day sharpening the saws. A glance at the working sheet at the board garage show that on Wednesday the men worked until 3 o'clock the next morning; on Thursday they worked from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m.; Friday from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m.; and on Saturday, Sunday and Monday from 7 to 4 p. m.

In addition to this, night gangs worked all night removing trees that had been chopped and sawed

Roosevelt Sends Message to Duce; Berlin Sees Peace

Meanwhile Feverish Preparations for War Continue; Hitler Sends Message to Chamberlain Today

Prayer Crusade

French Cardinal Proclaims National Invocations; Berna Alive With Troops

(By The Associated Press)

Peace in Europe appeared to have been insured for at least another 24 hours by an announcement today that the leaders of Great Britain, Germany, Italy and France would meet at Munich tomorrow in an effort to avert war and that Germany would postpone mobilization.

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons he had been invited by Chancellor Hitler to meet with Premier Mussolini, Premier Daladier and the Reichsfuehrer to seek a way out of the situation which had all Europe rushing war preparations at top speed.

He received the invitation just as he was concluding an hour and a half review of his apparently hopeless peace efforts. He read it to the House and said:

"I need not say what my answer will be. I will go to see what I can do as a last effort."

He announced that Hitler had agreed to postpone mobilization for 24 hours in the hope that the conference would make it unnecessary to use force against Czechoslovakia to get his demands.

While Chamberlain was speaking news came from Rome that Mussolini had telephoned Hitler, at the request of the Earl of Perth, British ambassador to Rome, and that the Fuehrer had accepted him as mediator.

Germany's Propaganda Minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels, told a throng of Berliners today the forenoon an amiable solution of the German-Czechoslovak dispute "within a few days."

These developments overshadowed all other European news, which in the main had been extremely pessimistic.

An authoritative source in Berlin had disclosed earlier that Hitler had sent a letter to Chamberlain promising that Czechoslovakia's political and economic independence would not be endangered by German occupation of Sudetenland.

Occupation "Indispensable"

The letter was reported to have said, however, that occupation of the Sudeten territory by October 1 was "indispensable" in view of conditions which Germany could no longer endure.

United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew asked Japan to send peace appeals to Hitler and President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia, similar to President Roosevelt's first appeal. Foreign Minister

Two Men Steal $60 At Resort Today

Undetermined Number of Occupants Are Trussed Up Near Walker Valley

Two men, both armed with automatics, held up Lunny's Log Cabin, a roadside between Walker Valley and Pine Bush and about two miles from the latter place, on Route 62, at 1:30 this morning.

With all available state troopers scouring the territory in southern Ulster and adjoining Orange and Sullivan counties, exact details could not be ascertained this noon, but it was reported that the two men held up the occupants of the Log Cabin, tied them up and then departed with some $60. When last seen they were driving toward Ellenville on the Shawangunk Trail and were said to be making their escape in a stolen 1932 black Studebaker sedan bearing license plate No. 626457.

Sergeant Hopkins of Ellenville and District Attorney were notified of the hold-up and an immediate broadcast was sent out and all troopers in the vicinity called out, including Corporal Baker of New Paltz, Troopers Seymour and Reilly and Metzger and Reynolds of the B. C. I. The sheriff's office was also notified.

A description of the two men, as broadcast from the Highland sub-station was as follows:

One man was 5 feet, seven or eight inches in height, weighing around 170 pounds. Had black hair, blue eyes, no hat or cap, navy blue serge double-breasted suit, dark tan shoes and wore two automatics in a holster around his waist.

His companion was 20 or 21 years of age, five feet four inches in height and weighed 135 or 140 pounds. Had chestnut hair. Wore a dark suit and had two automatics. Spoke with a German or foreign accent. When he left the place he took with him a gray fedora hat which had in it the initials "A. W."

Deaths Pass 500

Fears That Disease Might Hit New England Are Allayed by Red Cross Officers

Boston, Sept. 28 (AP)—Fears that disease might follow last week's hurricane devastation in New England were allayed today by Red Cross medical officers, as the known death toll passed beyond 500.

Dr. William DeKleine, national Red Cross medical director, characterized health conditions as "very satisfactory" after a tour of the stricken areas.

The Red Cross listed 15,440 families as receiving aid, and said 44,000 suffered loss in the storm.

Reports at additional deaths in Massachusetts, Vermont and Connecticut lifted the toll to 602, divided as follows: Rhode Island, 263; Massachusetts, 133; Connecticut, 31; New Hampshire, 13; Vermont, 7.

Railroads reported continuing progress in reopening washed out lines. The Red Cross meanwhile spread relief efforts from Long Island to southern New Hampshire and Vermont, pledging its aid to anyone "who had sustained a loss which has created a need beyond his ability to meet."

Wm. SINGER 59 E. STRAND PHONE 700

Too bad he couldn't hold the line

A fishing enthusiast in New York recently picked up his telephone to hear a fellow fisherman, calling directly from the boat, say: "Hello, I'm off the Florida coast, and I've just hooked a nice blue marlin! Hear the reel sing?"

The New Yorker heard not only the singing of the reel but the purr of the boat's motor, the squeak of the swivel chair and the grunts of the fisherman. Suddenly the angler broke in: "He's running away with me. I'll call you back later!" He did call back to report the catch of a 364-pound marlin. An unusual use of the recently opened telephone service with coastal craft.

You may never have occasion to make so unusual a call. But let this true fish story remind you to reach for your telephone whether you want to extend personal greetings to an out-of-town friend or to order a fillet from the corner fish market. New York Telephone Company.

Dionne Case Comes to Trial

Chicago, Sept. 27 (AP).—A $1,000,000 lawsuit involving a promoter's frustrated plan to exhibit the Dionne quintuplets at the 1934 Century of Progress Exposition was called for trial in federal court today.

Principal defendant was Dr. Allan Roy DaFoe who officiated when the famous five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne were born at Callander, Ont., on May 28, 1934.

Ivan I. Spear, Chicago promoter, sued Dr. DaFoe and 11 others for $1,000,000 damages, but when Judge John P. Barnes cleared the docket for the trial to begin today only four defendants had been served—Dr. DaFoe, Father Nawa, the S. S. Kresge and J. W. Woolworth companies.

Spear alleged there was a conspiracy to break a contract he made with Oliva Dionne, the quintuplets' father, giving Spear exclusive rights to exhibit the quintuplets at the exposition and motion picture and photographic reproduction rights. He alleged the three companies used photographs in violation of the contract.

Dr. DaFoe's answer admitted Spear entered into contract with Dionne May 31, 1934 and that the doctor learned of it July 13.

He contended, however, that the quintuplets at that time were "hovering between life and death," that the contract was "unconscionable and against public policy," and that it was subject to approval by Dionne's attorney, which was never given.

Dr. DaFoe said in an interview last night that proposals to exhibit the famous quintuplets at the New York World's Fair in 1939 had been rejected by the guardians.

Wright Condemns Library Concept

Condemning the old concept of the public library as "a sort of museum" and the librarian as "a sort of collector," Milton Wright, author and publicist, told 400-odd members of the New York Library Association in conference at Lake Mohonk today that if they wanted results they must go out and get them.

If the public library is to fulfill its ideal role, Mr. Wright declared, librarians must identify themselves with the interests of the public and build up good will to combat the indifference many people feel.

"The fact that a ridiculously small percentage of the population of any community enters the library's doors and reads its books is abundant evidence that the library is not as important or as valuable to the community as it might be," he said.

He advocated the extended use of publicity, and, where necessary, "a rearrangement of all your policies and practices so that they are expressed in human terms and end in human benefits." If the library did a complete job, he asserted, it would be "more potent than any political party, than any cultural group, than any newspaper, than any labor organization—more potent, even than the public schools."

Mr. Wright's address followed a panel discussion on "Public Opinion and Library Extension" by a group including Maurice H. Eliot, of Yonkers, as president of the board; Louis M. Nourse, of Poughkeepsie, as librarian; Miss L. Marion Mosher, of Albany, as a state worker; and Mrs. Beatrice Sawyer Russell, of the American Library Association, Chicago, as publicity expert.

FLASHES OF LIFE

Philadelphia.—A woman who wanted to cure her conscience sent Jacob Brandt, a spiritualist, 25 cents "for the money I made out of the news stand when I was a little girl."

Mr. Brandt, who took over the stand only recently, said he had no idea of the original owner and delivered the 25 cents.

Kansas City.—Mrs. Claude Williams had an unhappy hour. Her shopping trip ended tragically when a sackpocket containing $15 from her purse was stolen.

She rushed home to peace and quiet and was shocked to find that the thief had broken into the house, stolen a quantity of clothing.

Hurley Gun Club To Hold Meeting
The annual meeting of the Hurley Gun Club will be held Monday evening, October 3, at the town hall, Hurley, at 8 o'clock. Officers for the coming year will be elected at this meeting.

Memberships expire October 1, and dues for the 1938-39 season may be paid at this time as cards and buttons are now available.

Hunting conditions on club grounds should be the best in several years since a large number of birds have been released during the past year. It was announced.

Inasmuch as there are several other matters of vital importance to be brought before this meeting it is urged that all members be present.

It has come to the attention of the officers that rumors have been circulated that any member of the Ulster County Fish & Game Association will be permitted to hunt in Hurley Gun Club territory. The club wishes to brand that rumor as absolutely false. The one and only requirement for hunting on property owned by the Hurley Gun Club is a membership in the club, which may be obtained by applying to any club member.

Gypsy in Ruth Annoys Police

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—Thirty times a runaway in less than a year, pretty four-year-old Ruth Wheeler became a major problem today to this city's 1,000 odd policemen.

Their patience reaching a breaking point, police were considering ways of curbing the tiny young lady's wanderlust before she becomes a state-wide problem.

At the age of three, Ruth's runaways were comparatively simple. She just came downtown and window-shopped until police paid her. But, within the last month, Ruth has branched out.

Three weeks ago she stowed away on a bus and wound up in Niagara Falls.

Two weeks ago she stowed away on the Port Erie-Buffalo ferry and was finally found in Canada.

Last night she climaxed her wanderlust by stowing away on a bus and getting as far as Matavia.

Tucked into bed last night after her latest jaunt, she sleepily mused:

"It must be the gypsy in me."

New York, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Hamburg-American liner Hansa, which was not scheduled to sail until midnight tonight, cast off suddenly at 9 a. m. today and steamed toward Germany. None of the 350 passengers who had been booked for the trip was aboard. At the line's office it was said the Hansa sailed 15 hours ahead of schedule in response to orders cabled from Hamburg.

NAZI CARS WRECKED IN BORDER CLASHES

While Sudeten German "free corps" members and Czechoslovakian border guards continued to clash along the disputed boundary, Nazi motorcars like those shown above at the border town of Grafitz met a violent fate. German news sources said the machines had been wrecked by hand grenades. This picture was transmitted by radio from London to New York.

Roosevelt Sends Appeal Direct to German Fuehrer

Washington, Sept. 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt appealed anew to Adolf Hitler late last night to avoid plunging Europe into war.

Unlike his earlier plea for peace which went to Czechoslovakia, Great Britain and France as well as Germany, the President directed his message only to Hitler, thereby indicating he believed the reichsfuehrer would be responsible if negotiations to avert war broke down now.

"Present negotiations still stand open," he said. "They can be continued if you will give the word."

The President suggested, too, possible convoking of a general parley in some neutral spot in Europe where all nations "directly interested in the present controversy" could meet and settle their troubles peacefully.

He made it clear at the same time, however, that the United States would neither sponsor nor attend such a meeting and that it was for Europe to work out its own solution unaided.

He had made his pleas for peace, he said, because "the conscience and the compelling desire of the people of my country demand that the voice of their government be raised again and yet again to avert and to avoid war."

The decision to send the second appeal was reached at a cabinet meeting yesterday. Shortly before, Mr. Roosevelt and his cabinet had listened to Premier Chamberlain's speech from London and carefully examined Hitler's reply to the President's earlier appeal.

Some of the president's advisers, informed persons said, it appeared the fuehrer had carried the world even closer to war by the language of his reply than he had in previous statements.

The reichsfuehrer's reply said the possibility of adjusting the Sudeten question had been "exhausted" and made clear Germany would regard Czechoslovakia as responsible if war came.

The president met press correspondents immediately after the cabinet session, but would not discuss the foreign situation.

At dusk, Secretary of State Hull and Under-Secretary Welles returned to the White House, and in a historic two-and-a-half hour conference, the note was drafted. It was sent off soon thereafter so that it would reach Berlin well before dawn today and possibly before any irrevocable steps had been taken there.

In his message, the president noted Hitler's historical review of errors contributing to the present threatened war, but said the chief question now was "the fate of the world today and tomorrow."

"The world asks of us who at this moment are heads of nations the supreme capacity to achieve the destinies of nations without forcing upon them as a price, the mutilation and death of millions of citizens," he said.

"Should you agree to a solution in this peaceful manner I am convinced that hundreds of millions throughout the world would recognize your action as an outstanding historic service to all humanity."

Youths Trained for Positions by NYA

49 East Strand, Kingston, N. Y. Sept. 27, 1938.
Editor, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

Would you be so kind as to give space to the following article in your paper.

I have been keenly aware during the past few weeks of the campaign being conducted by the merchants and officials of the city known as the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign. While knowing that sales will help to increase jobs I am also aware of the fact that without jobs sales can not increase very rapidly. With that in mind may I suggest that a "Job Means Sales" campaign be inaugurated.

We have here on the National Youth Administration program some 168 youth working. These youths, both male and female, are capable of doing many types of work. For the office executive who needs a good stenographer we have several youths thoroughly capable of doing an excellent job. For the store manager who needs a good clerk we have those who can be used in that capacity. For the firm desiring laboring help we have many who can produce as well as and as much as any laborer. On our payroll we have people trained for teaching, stenography, typist, bookkeepers and laborers. We have a number of girls and boys who would fit well in the factory system as found in Kingston. We are constantly training youth for apprenticeship in carpentry and wood-working.

Could you make the public aware of the fact that the National Youth Administration is carrying on a campaign of work and education at the same time? While giving unemployed and needy youth work we are also educating them to do a thorough job in whatever position they may be assigned to. Our training, however, can only go a certain distance and will be valuable only insofar as these youths can put it into practice through private employment. Youth must have employment. Apprentices must be trained. We already have on our program or are in constant contact with youth who can readily fill positions of various types as fast as they are opened in Kingston.

The more youth we can place in private employment the more youth we can serve. Why not have private industry inquire regarding youth whom they could use? They can be assured that they will secure the best of those working on our program.

Very truly yours,
JAMES A. LYNCH,
Supervisor, National Youth Administration, Ulster County, New York.

Bullies Trolley

Ithaca, N. Y. (AP)—Many dogs chase cars but an unidentified bull in Ithaca has found something that he apparently thinks is more fun. When a street car stops near his corner, he runs out and stands in front of the cow-catcher and refuses to move, backing away slowly only when the motorman inches the car along and rings the bell.

NYA Completes 2 Projects for Parks

The National Youth Administration in its work center located in the municipal building on East O'Reilly street is finishing up the last of 15 bleachers which seat at least 40 people and which are to be used in the city parks. This will make a total of 15 bleachers that the National Youth Administration has constructed for the city since the spring of this year. These bleachers have been used in increased numbers in all the parks of the city.

They are constructed to withstand rough usage and represent much training given youth in carpentry by the National Youth Administration.

These bleachers are only one of the many types of park equipment such as saw-saws, picnic tables, benches and bleachers which have been erected by the NYA for the city during the past several months.

During the past month the Clearwater Park project being operated by the National Youth Administration and located in the Wilbur section of the city has been completed to the extent that a play area of 30x120 feet in area is now ready for use. This area in which over 300 cubic yards of fill consisting of stone, sand and gravel are used. As shown during the past several weeks of rainfall it is perfectly suited for play purposes. Drainage is so well constructed that not one pool of water was formed on the area during all the heavy rainfall of the past week. This is the result of careful construction on the part

OFFICE CAT

By J. J. J.

We all have our peculiarities. If you doubt it, read this: A man who stuttered badly was asked if this did not bother him. He replied: "No-no, th-that's my pec-peculiarities." Everybody has pec-peculiarities.

Friend—I don't know about that. I don't think I have.

Stutterer—O yes you have. Which ha-hand do you st-stir your tea with?

Friend—My right hand.

Stutterer—Th-that's my pec-peculiarities. No-st people use a spoon.

A goldfinger is the hardest known female. It takes a diamond to make an impression on her.

Patient—Why does so small a cavity feel so large to the tongue, doctor?

Dentist—Just the natural tendency of the tongue to exaggerate, I suppose.

Read it or not—The Black Forest is not black, nor is Blue Danube blue, but the Emerald Isle is green.

Wife—Every time I get ready to go shopping you say you haven't any money. Why don't you see Broker Skjold and get him to give you some tips on the stock market?

Hubby—My dear, speculation on the stock market is always a big gamble. One gains one day and loses the other.

Wife—Then, it should be easy. Only speculate every other day.

Many people fall for slogans and catch words. They feel that it relieves them of the disagreeable necessity of thinking.

Gladye—After he kissed you five times, then what?

Ethel—Oh, then he began to get sentimental.

There is nothing like being prepared for any emergency: Old Gentleman—You're an honest lad, but it was a $10 bill I lost, not ten ones.

Small Boy—I know, mister, it was a $10 bill I picked up. But last time I found one, the man didn't have any change.

The Great Lover

Gently, he pushed her quivering shoulders back against the chair. She raised beseeching eyes in which faint hope and fear were struggling. From her parted lips, the breath came in short, wrenching gasps. Reassuringly, he smiled at her.

Bzzzz, went the dentist's drill.

Looks Like We Can't Miss

This week our troubles will be over, each person in the land will see great worries fade away, and all will be so grand.

Then, we'll buy anything we want, and never ask the price; For nothing shall be denied, and go! Won't that be nice? Pay taxes? Oh, forget such things! They'll be reduced to zero.

With problems solved quite magically, we'll fiddle round (like Nero).

I've listened to all candidates, each plan sounds like perfection, And offers everything—and more! So—bring on that election.

Lyle Myers.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—If you are a movie-struck parent and want to get your own bright little tot into the flickers, you ought to come to Hollywood first—don't—take a look around.

You ought to be on hand around a casting office some day when there's a call for children, and see for yourself the swarms of movie mamas and their offspring you and your prodigy will have to buck and fight for even a look at the role of the 18th orphan in the orphanage scene.

You ought to see for yourself how the mamas, as they wait, glare sweetly at each other and primp their pretty pets—and how the phoneys so many of the kids themselves, who ought to be making backyard sand-castles or taking their naps, look with their transparently rehearsed "cutenesses," their frequently artificial curls, and their alleged talents for dancing and singing or reciting pieces.

And then, if you still think Hollywood's a good idea for your child and insist on bringing it out, look before you leap into any of the numerous child talent schools in town. They are so easily investigated that there's little excuse for anyone's being taken in.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Sometimes you read several different stories in a newspaper and they add up. Like today for instance. There was the item about A. C. Blumenthal and his estranged wife, Peggy Fears, wrangling over a new separation settlement. Then there was an item about Jimmy Walker, erstwhile darling young man on New York's political trapeze, who is now an able though I will wager an unhappy lawyer.

Jimmy Walker is still amazingly popular in this town. Hundreds of thousands of people love him. And "Blumey" is a fantastic and affable millionaire who leaps from one court skirmish to another with the agility of a mountain goat taking the crags on high. As for Miss Fears, she is the beautiful actress who, tired of acting, turned play producer with no luck.

These stories were widely separated and had no connection whatever.

BUT, let's go back a few years, after the Samuel Seabury investigation which caused Jimmy to resign as mayor of the world's largest city and seek temporary retirement abroad.

During those hectic days Jimmy lived at the Mayfair hotel. Nearby, at the Ambassador, Blumenthal maintained an extravagant apartment. It must have had 18 rooms, and it was the sort of happy-go-lucky household found only in movie scenarios or Broadway stage scripts.

You couldn't get near Jimmy's apartment at the Mayfair then. Too many cops.

There was a Broadway reporter at that time who knew of the close friendship between Walker and Blumenthal. So he walked into the apartment one afternoon to see if he could get wind of Walker's whereabouts. For four days and nights he stayed there without a single soul asking his name or inquiring after his wants.

Dennis O'Keefe

DENNIS O'KEEFE, the erstwhile Bud Flanagan of the extra ranks, made more money at golf his first year in pictures than he did at acting.

O'Keefe, son of a famous vaudeville, was a salesman for a local plumbing concern when he called on a pal who happened to be an assistant casting director. He'd had some experience in vaudeville and didn't care for plumbing, so he grabbed at the chance of five days' work with Olive Border: in a 1930 "taker," he made a great actor, and he didn't act again, but he was a crack golfer, much sought for betting foursomes.

HE was discovered last year through a bit in "Rhythm on the Range" and soon he had an M-G-M contract and a lead spot in "Bad Man of Brimstone." In the intervening years he had done everything one can do about a studio—played extra, bit, swept out stages, propped, and played golf.

Since "Brimstone" he's been so busy in pictures he hasn't had time for the links. But the other day he took on two pals. At the first tee it sounded, he says, like an alibi contest.

"I've got a bad back—don't think I can do much," said the first.

"A bee stung my right arm—I can't play," said the second.

"Haven't played in a year," said O'Keefe. "This is going to be murder."

The scores: No. 1, 80; No. 2, 70; O'Keefe, 71.

Now Big Sturgeon

Manassas, N. Y. (UP)—Frank Cutry caught a 150-pound six-foot-three inch sturgeon in his sturgeon trap in the St. Lawrence river. The fish measured 33 inches at girth.

New Battery of Trainer Guns Added to 156th Field Artillery

A complete battery of Field Artillery Trainer guns has been added to the training equipment of the 156th Field Artillery, stationed at the armory on Manor avenue.

The guns, four in all, are located in a dugout on one end of the large drill shed. They are equipped with telescope panoramic sights and settings for range and deflection are made in the same manner used in adjusting the large 75mm field guns. Their ratio in comparison to the 75mm guns is approximately 100 to 1. The range of these guns is approximately 100 yards, therefore in comparing their ratio with the 75mm guns, the range would be approximately ten thousand yards in comparison with the larger guns. A one inch steel ball serves as a projectile and is propelled by a .22 blank cartridge.

The guns are used primarily for the training of officers in the conduct of fire and should aid greatly in perfecting firing ability.

The training period for the coming year is under way and regimental weekly drills are held every Monday night. Headquarters Battery A, First Lieut. Harold Clayton commanding, during the absence of Capt. B. A. Stueding, who is taking a three months' training course at Fort Sill, Okla., commences drill at 8 o'clock. A number of new recruits have enlisted with both batteries and only a few vacancies remain.

Recreational activities for the year are also well under way with both batteries whipping their basketball teams into shape for competition in the Regimental League and outside teams. Soccer, volleyball, shuffle board, indoor baseball and pistol teams are also being organized.

Drill checks for both batteries are here and can be had by calling at the armory this evening between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Debating Groups Will Meet Here

Plans were reported advancing this week for the 11th annual convention of the International League of Eastern New York, which will be held at the high school Saturday, October 2.

The session will open at 9:45 a. m. and it is expected that 125 coaches and debaters will attend from Liberty, Monticello, Jeffersonville, New Paltz, Highland, Newburgh, Wappington, Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Ossining, Peekskill and Port Jervis.

It is expected also that the schools of Ellenville, Cold Spring, Westerlo, Catskill, Hudson, Wappington, Falls and Rhinebeck, will be represented.

The program this year shows a change in procedure over that of other years. In place of the debate between two league schools, there will be a panel discussion "How to Improve Our League."

Three students from three different schools will open this discussion by presenting a ten-minute speech on the following:

A tournament should be the occasion of all league debates—Liberty.

All judges of league debates should be from neutral towns—Kingston.

Then a discussion from the floor will be held in which students from each school are expected to participate. At this time their recommendations may be stated as well as comments prepared for and against the three changes advocated by the speakers. Each talk from the floor is limited to three minutes; no speaker may have the floor a second time unless everyone who wishes to talk has had the privilege.

Following this period or in connection with it, there may be talks by Miss Wallace of Ossining.

and Miss Stephens of Poughkeepsie who attended the National Convention of the American League at Worcester, O., in May. These speakers may discuss the need of additional speaking activities to supplement the high school debate program, and "Improving Our Debate Technique."

The luncheon will begin promptly at 12:15, so that students wishing to attend afternoon games may leave at 1:30.

Following the luncheon an after-dinner speech given by an outstanding speaker of Kingston will conclude the program.

In the afternoon there will be three rounds of non-debate debates in which schools may enter a double team of inexperienced students debating "Resolved, that Nazi propaganda be curtailed in the United States."

Each affirmative team must furnish its own chairman and timekeeper.

While these debates are being held, the coaches and officers of the League will discuss plans and policies for the year. The national debate subject is "Resolved, that the United States establish an alliance with Great Britain."

CORRECT ATTIRE FOR GOLF

No matter how few his pars and birdies, this man can definitely say that he went round in real golfing attire. Present day golfing fashion calls for nothing sensational, gone are the plus sixes and eights in wild checks, and today's golfer breaks par in very simple but very workmanlike clothes.

The golf links is one place where the cap has retained its acceptance. The one worn here is of Harris tweed in a fairly strong plaid and with a one-piece top.

As an alternative to his pullover, our golfer might have chosen this sleeveless cardigan which many men like because it can be worn comfortably under your jacket.

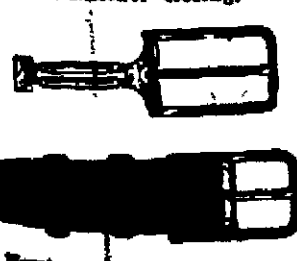

His pullover is a medium weight ribbed wool with crewneck and note that on his neck he wears that ever increasing and very suitable neckpiece known as a neckerchief or necktie. It can be just a large handkerchief of foulard or cotton or it may be a wide scarf shape.

There's nothing new about his trousers except that they are of covert cloth which is relatively new and ideally suited in the new lightweight for both suits and slacks. The other point of interest is that the cuffs are extra deep and are natural turn-ups.

Many men like garments of the windbreaker type and this one shown above has a lot of merit. It is of gabardine or poplin and has several very practical features, including the slide-fastener closing.

Here's a new idea which will save the necessity for tightening your belt as you play the 18th hole. It has a concealed spring which provides a useful source of expansion and contraction.

Here's the shirt a real golfer would probably wear—it is of flannel, either very light weight wool or damask finished cotton.

And just in case of rain, here's a jacket of oiled silk which folds into nothing and is easily accommodated in your golf bag or the pocket of your coat. And there's now got that slide-fastener perfected so it snaps entirely at the bottom so you don't have to put it on over your head.

Nimrods to Meet For Prize Shoot

The eighth annual trap shoot of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county will be held on the grounds of the Ulster County Gun Club, one mile from Kingston on Route 28, Sunday, October 2.

There are three championships to be decided at the meet. The scratch team race, the handicap team race and the individual championship.

These contests are open to all clubs who are members of the federation, and to all persons who are residents of Ulster county, and members in good standing of any affiliated club.

Owing to an amendment to the rules governing the shoot, which permits clubs to enter more than one team, it is expected that there will be more teams to shoot this year than in any previous year.

Several clubs have already signified their intention of entering more than one team.

The team races will start promptly at 10:30 o'clock that morning, and entries can be made for these races up to the time the last team entered, starts to shoot.

Entries for the individual championship can be made at any time up to the period that the last squad starts to shoot the last string.

Each contestant is required to shoot a string of 50 targets, and to the team breaking the largest number of targets is awarded the "scratch trophy"; to the team breaking the largest number of targets, with the handicap added, is awarded the "handicap trophy"; and to the individual breaking the largest number of targets is awarded the "individual championship trophy."

No score made in a team race will count in these individual championships.

The "Shogren system" of handicapping which has been used in past years, will again be used this year. This system gives all shooters, regardless of the class in which they shoot, an equal chance for the prizes which are awarded in the individual shoot.

A hot lunch will be served on the grounds the day of the shoot.

Chamberlain Note To Duce Today

Rome, Sept. 28 (AP)—The text of British Prime Minister Chamberlain's message today to Benito Mussolini follows:

I have directed today a final appeal to Herr Hitler to refrain from use of force to settle the Sudeten problem which we are certain could be settled by means of brief discussion and would give to him essential territory and populations and protection both by Sudetens and Czechs during the transfer.

I offered to go myself at once to Berlin to discuss arrangements with German and Czech representatives and, if the chancellor desired it, representatives of Italy and France as well.

I trust your excellency will be so good as to inform the German chancellor that you are disposed to be represented there and urge him that he accept my proposal. This will keep our peoples out of war.

I have already guaranteed that Czech promises will be fulfilled and I trust that complete agreement may be reached within the week.

Murphy Asks for Parade Entries

Business and industrial plants who are planning to enter floats in the big celebration parade on Thursday afternoon, October 6, are urged to notify Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, grand marshal of the parade, at the Central Fire Station at once, so that the parade committee may have some idea as to the number of divisions it will be necessary to divide the parade into.

Owners of private cars who also plan to take part in the motorcade extending from West Hurley to Highland through Kingston, are also urged to get in touch with the fire chief.

Plans for the big celebration are being formulated by the general committee of which Morris Samter is general chairman.

Under the proposed plans the parade will form in Kingston and proceed out the new four-strip concrete highway to West Hurley, returning to Kingston, passing down Broadway over the Rondout Creek Bridge and on to Highland over the new road, returning to Kingston and disbanding at the municipal auditorium, where appropriate exercises will be held.

The celebration will mark the completion of the Kingston-West Hurley road; the new road, which is being built by the State, and the installation of the new street lighting system in Kingston.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—

Driven lower at the opening amid mounting despair for European peace, the stock market quickly changed its direction today on news of the plan for the last-power Munich conference and soared in a spectacular rally.

While trading had quieted, leading shares near the final hour showed net gains of 1 to 2 around 4 points in contrast with early losses ranging to about 8.

For a while in the first hour the market was thrown into turmoil by the sudden buying stampede, which it regained its calm, prices slipped a bit and then returned to around the best levels of the rally.

Transactions, heavy in the buying rush, ran at the rate of about 1,700,000 shares for the full session.

From a low of 56 1/4 in the first few minutes of trading, U. S. Steel soared above 56 for a net gain of about 4 1/2 in the last hour, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, General Motors, Westinghouse Electric, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber and other active trading favorites similarly were jerked out of the initial decline into an almost straight-up advance.

Announcement of the Munich parley tomorrow, with proposals for mediation of the Sudeten issue by Premier Mussolini, likewise worked magic in transforming early declines into rallies.

Foreign currencies, bonds and some commodities, however, had fallen with security markets on the mounting war fear.

The British pound, in a foreign exchange market thrown out of gear by the European crisis, from an early quotation of $4.63 quickly went to $4.73, bid. Later it settled under that figure.

Nearly 700,000 shares were traded in the first hour, leaving the ticker trailing the market six minutes at one time.

Many Wall Streeters were inclined to agree with Secretary of Commerce Clegg's statement that recovery probably would move forward briskly if relieved of the depressing influence of the European war threat.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 15 Broad street, New York city, branch office 43 Main street, R. B. Osterhout, manager.

Security Prices Varied Tuesday

So far the trading on the New York Stock Exchange, although fluctuating and irregular under the tension of the European situation, and community varying reports on the situation, and what impends, has remained orderly and comparatively calm.

Thus security prices varied through the day yesterday and closed with a slight gain, although substantially below the high point.

Industrial, as measured by the Dow-Jones averages, opened up 0.75 point above Monday's closing and showed a gain of over two points at 2 o'clock. Traders, however, did not find the tone of Prime Minister Chamberlain's address too encouraging and gains at the close of the market had dwindled down to 0.25 point, to 130.19; rails were up slightly, to 23.08, but utility averages showed a loss for the day of 0.24 point to 17.35. Government bonds were practically unchanged, but corporate bonds generally were lower.

In London industrial lost 1.6 points, down to 81.5 in the Times averages, a new low. Paris market was lower. Berlin Boerse closed firm, but under the best levels of the day.

International capital continued its flow from London in huge volume and sterling dropped to 44.73 1/2, new low ground. French francs declined to 2.64 cents, or 2 1/4 for the protection on all cargo bound for Germany were suspended yesterday by insurance underwriters. Other rates were doubled and in some cases were 200 per cent higher than they were before the Czech crisis.

Wheat and sugar sold off yesterday, but cotton was up as much as 14 points, hides 12 and cocoa two to four. Rubber was off three quarters of a cent a pound.

Reductions which amount to around five per cent will place Buick's price structure about on the 1935 basis. A drop of $61 is announced on the series 40 and 50 lines and $102 on the 50 and 60 lines for the 1938 models.

The IOC is expected to call public hearings about December 1 in reorganization proceedings of the New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroad.

Auto tire shipments in August showed a gain of 2.5 per cent over July.

President Roosevelt yesterday named three men as a fact-finding board to investigate the alleged wage dispute. Members named were former SEC Chairman Landis, Justice Walter P. Stacy of North Carolina and Professor Harry Miller of Chicago. Board, which will report in 30 days, is said to be satisfactory to both sides of the dispute.

Delivered prices on Studebaker 1939 models show reductions of as much as $95.

President Norris of Southern Railway said that his road has net income of around $100,000 in August compared with net loss of $250,155 in August, 1937. September gross is reported to be running substantially better.

Reps of Commonwealth & Southern for 13 months ended August 31 shows net income of $12,294,364, equivalent after $6 preferred dividend requirements to ten cents a share on $33,662,594 non-preferred shares of common stock. Compares with net of $15,250,054, or 20 cents a common share in 12 months ended August 31, 1937.

Regular quarterly common dividends were declared yesterday by American Can Co. and Hershey Chocolate Corp. Reading Co. declared 25 cents on common, same as paid August 11. Horn & Hardart Co., New York, declared a quarterly of 50 cents vs. 30 cents paid August 1 last.

Only Four Serpent Mounds In all the world, there are only four mounds representing serpents. One is in Warren county, Ohio, two miles west of Morrow, and another is in Adams county, Ohio. There is a small one 10 miles south of Peterboro in the Province of Ontario, Canada. Still another serpent effigy is in Argyleshire, Scotland, near the shore of Loch Ness. All four mounds resemble each other sufficiently to cause speculation as to their common origin.

Old Zulu Customs An old Zulu custom is called "being ashamed of the mother-in-law." A Zulu man must never look at his wife's mother. If they meet by accident they must turn their heads away and pretend not to have seen each other. If ever there is real need for them to speak together they must go to opposite sides of a tall fence and shout over the fence. A Zulu wife must not mention her husband's parents.

Speed Demons Ready for Races At Altamont Oval

Altamont, Sept. 28 (Special).—The speed demons are ready for the races at Altamont on Saturday of this week. The New York State Independent Championship title will go to the driver winning the 10-lap feature race.

New England drivers will invade the state in an attempt to win the much-discussed title with the state, but the lists show a heavy favorite from the home state that is going to be rough and tough for both factions.

Several of the drivers appeared at the Cambridge Hospital Fund race Sunday and stopped the race so high that before the moon was over, there were enough the fences in crashes that truly spectacular. George Kiewit, Eddie Morgan, of Connecticut, and Eddie Edwards, of Maryland, did the sensational fence-crashing.

What might happen in the Altamont season feature is entirely problematical, since the competition is bound to be stiffer in order to win the coveted prize.

Joe Taggart, Hartford, Conn., and the 1937 New England champion, George Bouley, of Waterbury, Conn., and Joe Sostillo, of Boston, Mass., champion of that state's circuit, are already in the thick of the entries for the Altamont classic. Sidney Gerber, of Buffalo, the driver who did two days of sensational driving in Altamont during the Albany-Schenectady County Fair, is entered. Speedsters and Eddie Cox, of Rochester, are in the line-up. Amos Herkimer, Southern Tier champ, has entered. Herkimer's flash, Russ Brooks, has fled. And the entries are still coming in.

Early-Day Pottery Was Colored a Dull Red

The first pottery factory known to have existed in Vermont was established in Bennington by Capt. John Nelson in 1783. Pottery was necessary in the community for the simple household needs of every-day life.

The first pottery produced was colored a dull red, some of it lead-glazed and some of it covered with slip. This pottery supplied the market that extended to Montreal, Buffalo and New York, but it was not until Christopher Webster Fenton and his associates entered upon the manufacture of the finer earthenware in the middle of the nineteenth century, that what we know as Rockingham was produced by the firm, which Alice Rollins in the Los Angeles Times.

The factory had been making large quantities of earthenware and stoneware. A disastrous fire in 1845 destroyed the works and interrupted production for a brief period. It was at this time that Christopher Webster Fenton began manufacturing on his own account. He produced common white, common yellow and Rockingham. Fenton, himself, was not a great potter, but he had a "nose" for creative imagination and was able to attract those who were, themselves, craftsmen. These men advanced the institution to first place as a pottery manufacturing and it eventually holds a high place in the history of pottery making in America.

Rockingham, or dark fuster ware, is sometimes called, ranks high in quality and while many other factories produced a like pottery, that made in the Fenton works was considered the best.

Fish Squeal, Grunt, Sob, Howl; Others Climb
"Pump as a fish"; does not apply to all fishes, asserts a writer in London, Tit-Bits Magazine. The red snapper, so common on the coast of Devonshire, positively squeals when it is taken out of the water. The fisher-folk call it the cuckoo-fish. In the Gulf of Mexico lives a fish known as the Grunt, or Drugg. When the fish is hooked he sobs pitifully, and the human angler who is so far removed by these lamentations as to see him back into the water is rewarded with a squeal that is an unmistakable "thank you!" The Maldives, which may be caught along the eastern coast of the New World, enjoys the distinction of being the loudest fish in existence. He makes a loud, meaning sound, and squeals like a frog. His howls can be heard on shore when he is five-and-twenty fathoms below the surface of the sea.

The climbing perch of Java and Southern India has the further peculiarity of being able to climb. Its name Palaemon, means, in the native Tamil, tree-climber; scientists call him Anabas, which is Greek for "going up." In ordinary times these fishes live in rivers and ponds of fresh water. In times of drought they crawl from the river-bed, making their way over the dry ground by means of their rough scales and fins, even scrambling up the trunks of trees in search of food.

Do Not Like Photographs
It is because Lars Levi Linstadter declared that he is a fish to make a picture of God for his image, that the Linstadters do not like to be photographed. They draw or sketch their pictures, and then, when they are done, they burn them. They are not even allowed to look at their pictures, and they are not even allowed to look at their pictures.

Advantages include the fact it helps keep the defense from over-shifting to one side; with defense balanced and backs in close, guards pull out from good spots; powerful inside strength with three backs in close; fine protection for passer; can get down men down on passes; good quick kick threat; lots of deception and fine formation for ball carrying ends on the end-around plays.

ACTION AS CUBS CUT PIRATE LEAD TO HALF GAME

Catcher Todd (at left) of the Pittsburgh Pirates is caught at second by Herman of the Chicago Cubs as he tried to stretch a single. It was in first game of a series of three which Cubs won at Chicago, 2-1, to climb within a half game of league-leading Pirates. Left fielder Augie Galan (at right) lies on the ground surrounded by Cub teammates after a collision with Pep Young, Pirate second baseman, injured a knee so badly he will be out for rest of season.

"Red" Dawson's Question Box

By LOWELL (RED) DAWSON

QUESTION: What are the principal advantages of the short punt formation, the tail-back 5 to 6 yards deep?

Answer: The formation, diagrammed, looks like this:

Advantages include the fact it helps keep the defense from over-shifting to one side; with defense balanced and backs in close, guards pull out from good spots; powerful inside strength with three backs in close; fine protection for passer; can get down men down on passes; good quick kick threat; lots of deception and fine formation for ball carrying ends on the end-around plays.

Yellow Jackets Will Open Season on Sunday, Oct. 9th

Due to the City League baseball championship series which enters into its final game this Sunday afternoon at the Athletic Field, Gus Steigerwald's Kingston Yellow Jackets will delay their debut until October 9 when the Port Jervis Cops will supply the opposition.

A number of important matters were discussed recently at a meeting of the local gridders with one of them pertaining to the attendance. Gus Steigerwald has promised the grid fans of this city a long home stay for his representatives on one condition. This is on the basis of the attendance that comes out the opening day.

"If the crowd warrants a continuance of home contests," said Gus, "the Waps will book plenty of big matches for the Smith avenue park but unless we have full cooperation from the city fans we will certainly have to book out of town engagements."

By the time the opening gun sets off the Jackets' inauguration of another campaign, it looks as though one of the finest teams will represent the local gridders. In the past decade the Colonial city has always been represented by great clubs but according to Steigerwald, the 1938 squad should go beyond all expectations.

At this writing there are about 22 men on the roster but by the first game it is expected that this number will be cut. Those who have been working out with the Waps are: John Spada, Burger,

Ray "Kelly" Schneider, Khe-darian, Jim Avery, Don Beany, Eddie Minasian, Charlie Raible, Bill Van Derzee, Fitzgerald, Tibor Tomshaw, Mac Tiano, Had De-Graft, Lou Straley, Dan and Bill Thomas. A batch of experienced material along with some of the above named are expected to report for drills this week.

On November 16 the local warriors will trek to Hudson in a game which is always packed with thrills and judging from reports coming out of the Hudson Valley town they are really going to town this term for a standout club.

The Hudson A. C. gladiators will be garbed in new uniforms purchased recently by their backer. Helmets will be blue, jerseys in blue and white while the pants will be blue with white stripes in the rear. Hudson has always, like the locals, taken this game seriously and when November 16 rolls around a fine semi-pro game should be the result.

So far out-of-town engagements have been arranged in Binghamton, Hudson and Troy.

Cubs Rampaging Against Pirates in Stretch Drive Today

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP)—Those rampaging Chicago Cubs, noted in baseball history as great stretch runners, went after the Pittsburgh Pirates and the National League leadership today.

In one of the most furious pennant drives in recent years, the Cubs battled the Bucs in the second of a three game series at Wrigley Field—with victory meaning an edge which would climax a dramatic uphill battle for a position nine games back little more than a month ago.

One half a game separated the teams as they squared away, the Cub's thrill-packed 2 to 1 victory yesterday having clipped a full game off the lead held by the Bucs since early July.

It was on the young shoulders of Clay Bryant, already winner of 18 games, that the Cubs placed their hopes of another victory and bright chances to duplicate the great pennant winning rush of 1935.

The league leaders, still confident they hold the whip hand, will depend on Bob Klinger, victorious in 12 games while losing five.

Final Championships Of John McGraw Began With 1921 Series Against Yankees

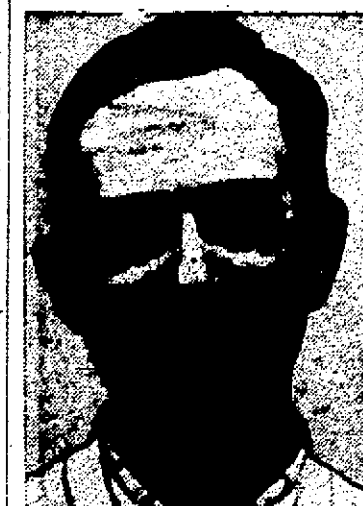

By DILLON GRAHAM

(AP Feature Service Writer)

The New York Giants finally found the winning stride again in 1921—their last string of successes under McGraw—and established a record by competing in four straight World Series.

The Subway Series was born that year. For three consecutive seasons the Giants' foes were the New York Yankees, rivals from across the Harlem river, a mighty hitting array headed by Babe Ruth, who blasted 59 homers in 1921, and managed by little Miller Huggins.

The Yanks were away to a flying start, winning the opening two games, but the McGrawmen rallied to take the championship, 5-3. Jesse Barnes and Phil Douglas each won two games. The Giants had an even easier time the following fall. The best the Yankees could do was to tie the second game in 10 innings, while the Giants won the other four.

Miller Huggins

Slinger Stengel
The big guns of the Yankees finally found the range in 1923 and whipped the Giants, 4-2. Crafty Herb Pennock won two games. Both of the Giants' victories came through home runs by Casey Stengel.

In 1924 Washington came up with a young manager, Bucky Harris, beat out the Yankees for the American League pennant and then bested the Giants, 4-2, in the fall classic. Washington festered Harris as a boy wonder as the Capital City celebrated its first pennant and its only world championship.

The series was the first for Walter Johnson, Washington's great right-hander, after 16 years in the big show. He carried the hopes of the fans every time he pitched but lost both of his starts. In the end fortune was with him, for Johnson was called in to save the final game. He silenced the Giants' bats through the innings until the Senators finally pushed across the deciding run in the 12th.

Changes Fete
Harris led the Senators to another pennant in 1925 but Pittsburgh, under Bill McKechnie, won the series, 4-3. Johnson's fate was just reversed in this series, for after winning two games, he failed in an effort to stem the Pirates as a relief tosser in the deciding game.

St. Louis broke through for its first pennant and World Series in 1926 under the plotting of Rogers Hornsby. Old Grover Cleveland Alexander, sold "down the river" by the Cubs, was the Cardinal hero in the 4-3 triumph over the Yankees.

After winning two games, along with the veteran Jess Haines, Alexander was summoned to pitch to the dangerous Tony Lazzeri. The bases were full with two out. Alexander struck out Lazzeri, and St. Louis won the world championship. Babe Ruth again was a hitting star, slugging out three homers in the fourth game.

Maroon Gridders in Final Week to Train for Opener

THE HAPPY (CHICAGO) WARRIOR

In the midst of a ding-dong stretch fight for the National League baseball championship, Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs maintains this confident air, seemingly not at all bothered by the slender lead still maintained by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Coach Kias and his Maroon and White gridders opened their final week of training Monday afternoon for this Saturday's opener against Amsterdam. According to the coach very little contact work will be on the menu in order to avoid all possible injury risks.

Although this department hasn't received any definite word from the carpet city club it is quite safe to say that the up-staters will be gunning plenty for the Kinsmen on Saturday. In the past Amsterdam High has been a standout in grid circles up in that region and it was only last season that they rolled up one of their finest records.

Since the first week of workouts Warren Kias has completed another grand job of building up a club which was pretty well knocked around with Juno graduates and other losses. In a talk with the Maroon mentor last Saturday he confided that his charges were still a little ragged in spots but expressed hope that they would be up to par by the opening tussle.

The coach has failed to name any starting lineup as he figures that no man has yet supplied enough ability to be called a regular. However, men like Bill Studer, Bill Von Easen, Jimmy Ashdown, Vince Stoll and Bill Powers along with Joe Clark cannot be overlooked. The majority of these gridders were prominent last season and unless something unforeseen happens, they will be in there at the starting gun.

Coach Kias' biggest job, it is thought, will be to make a starting forward wall out of the material he has on hand. His backs are fairly experienced in the back work which should give Kias some relaxation. A tentative roster would include Bill Von Easen and Joe Clark at the end slots. Joe Garland and Jack Cook at tackle, Bill Powers and Irv Rose occupying the guard positions while Bill Studer takes over the pivot post. In the backfield there is a number of candidates fighting for starting berths and as to who will compose the starters, well, your guess is as good as mine.

However, Jimmy Ashdown, Vince Stoll, George Geluch, Jay DeWitt, Kenny Douglas, Johnny Ennis and Bill Cole are the nominees. Both Ashdown and Stoll have long carried the banner for the Broadway school with a first year man on the squad and judging from his exhibitions during scrimmages, he is destined for a starting assignment. DeWitt, along with Douglas, Ennis and Cole are looking forward to a keen battle for any remaining job. Cole and Douglas have reported in condition following a week of bench duty due to a leg injury. If either or both of these cohorts form into varsity material, Coach Kias will have quite an array of secondary men.

Last Saturday morning Coach Kias held a short workout and scrimmage for his charges which was again featured by Vince Stoll and Jimmy Ashdown in the passing department. Around these two backfield buddies the mentor will build his scoring thrusts and if their exhibitions can true to form in the games as well as in these scrimmages, Kingston should have something to say about the DUSO League championship.

Down in Poughkeepsie last Saturday the school gridiron upsets started on their way when the Bridge City boys shellacked Port Jervis 19 to 0. Port has a batch of experienced men back for the season and this result was unexpected.

Seabiscuit Gets Chance to Collect Greater Earnings

Havre De Grace, Md., Sept. 26 (AP)—The $10,000 added Havre De Grace handicap, closing day feature of the fall racing season here, gave C. S. Howard's Seabiscuit a chance today to add to his impressive earnings of $315,805.

Seabiscuit, however, faced a field likely to extend him to his utmost.

In the field of 10, there were such contenders as Esposa, which beat Seabiscuit at Pimlico last fall, Marica, Noddy, Masked General and Menow.

Judnich Sends Ball Teams Back

Kansas City, Sept. 28 (AP)—Walter Judnich's home run bat sent Kansas City and St. Paul back to Minnesota today to resume their battle for the American Association championship and a chance to meet the International League winner in the Little World Series.

Judnich clubbed two homers and two singles, drove in five runs and scored three as Kansas City won here last night 7-6. The victory was the Blues' second in the final playoff series.

St. Paul, with three wins in the best of seven seton, can clinch the title by winning tonight.

Sneed Has 5,000 Reasons For Being Happy Today

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Sam Sneed, who ended a promising career as the best soda-jerk in Hot Springs, W. Va., to turn to golf, had five thousand added reasons today for rejoicing about that change of careers.

The reasons were written on the $5,000 check which Singlin's Sam received yesterday after winning the 108-hole Westchester open golf tournament with a score of 430.

Sneed now has won more prize money in one season's trying than any other professional. Since January 1 the smooth-swing West Virginian has tucked away $17,572.83, or $2,200 more than the previous mark set by Horton Smith nine years ago.

Tied for tenth at the end of 26 holes and tied for ninth at the end of 54 holes, Sneed was in a three-way deadlock for fifth place when yesterday's morning round started.

When he went to lunch, he had shot a 71 and was tied for first place with Jug McSpaden at 361. One shot behind was Chandler Harper, 24-year-old Virginian, who was the chief surprise of the field. Another shot back were Paul Runyan and Byron Nelson, the latter on a one-under-par 69.

They started leaving the door open for him and Sam eased right through. McSpaden blew up and wound up tenth. With nine holes to go, Sam was four shots up on Billy Burke, Nelson, Runyan and Harper. The finish was written right there.

With Sneed, Burke and Runyan and Nelson, who split $1,800, the big winners, George Murphy, "Angel" of the tournament, was the big loser. Conservative estimates placed Murphy's loss at $2,000.
